

merse, a magnificent quadrilateral of gardens was surrounded by the four concessions of France, Germany, Holland and Italy. The Italian pavilion was built after the Renaissance style of the fourteenth century. The German section was grouped around the main pavilion. Eight large halls were devoted to exhibits of railroad companies, agricultural machines, art and education. The Netherlands section included an elevated railway.

One of the most striking features of the French section was the Palace of Agriculture and Horticulture, special pavilions being devoted to Tunis, Madagascar, the Congo, the West Indies, Indo-China, the Spanish pavilion offered a remarkable reproduction of the Alhambra Palace at Granada. The court of Lions and several of the ruins of state were represented in which the Spanish government exhibited some of its national treasures, such as tapestries, paintings, armors and jewels of the former royal families.

An interesting feature of the fair was the house of Rubens, which in the official catalogue is described as a reproduction of the artist's studio. Besides representative exhibits of all branches of local activity, the pavilion contained a retrospective exhibition of Flemish art of Rubens's period. It was announced that before the opening of the exhibition that many of the leading museums of the world would contribute masterpieces in their possession.

King Albert inaugurated the colonial section of the exhibition on April 30.

GRANT AGAINST CANTREEN

Declares Our Soldiers Have Learned to Do Without It.

Pine Camp, N. Y., August 14.—General Frederick D. Grant does not agree with Chaplain George J. Waring of the Nineteenth Infantry, who thinks that the abolition of the army canteen is a mistake. Chaplain Waring, in a recent magazine article, stated that the abolition of the canteen had resulted very seriously for the average enlisted man and that it had increased the number of infractions in discipline and bootlegging outside the camp. General Grant does not think this view of the matter is correct.

"If it were within my power," said he to-day, "I would most carefully consider the matter before I would order the restoration of the army canteen, and in some cases I would not favor it. The men have learned to do without it under the new condition of affairs that the worst features attending the changes from the old order have been gradually eliminated."

All the militia regiments were at work on summer problems. This afternoon, the problems consisting of instruction work on attack and defense. In most cases the forces were not divided, and the enemy was only a theoretical one.

A BOON TO WOMEN

Need Not Pay Full Duty on Goods Imported Abroad.

Washington, August 14.—Women in American society hereafter may take wearing apparel and other personal effects, including gowns, jewelry, etc., abroad and have them remodeled or repaired in Paris, London or elsewhere, and on their return pay duty only on the alterations, instead of the full value of the goods, as now. This new gratifying to a host of more or less rich people, is conveyed in a decision of the Treasury Department, signed by Secretary MacVeagh and made public to-day.

The decision was issued on a request from Collector Loeb for instructions. In it Secretary MacVeagh holds that the only condition of limitation placed by the new tariff law on the free entry of such personal effects is that they be for the personal use of the individual. The satisfaction of the customs authorities at the pier. On such articles duties will be assessed only on the value of the changes made, following production of satisfactory evidence of the character and cost of the alterations.

Returning passengers will be required specifically to declare such articles, with the cost of repairs, and the bills therefor if they have them.

CLERGY LOYAL TO POPE

Pontiff Pleased With Their Actions in Spanish Crisis.

Rome, August 14.—The Pope, in speaking with reference to the Spanish question during the pontifical audience which he gave to a prominent official recently, said that the events in Spain and the efforts of the anti-clericals, supported by irreligious forces abroad, had caused him much affliction, but that the clergy had shown an opportunity for a splendid manifestation of loyalty and devotion to the church and the Pontiff himself from the Spanish people, who are by tradition Catholic.

The Pope added that addresses, telegrams and letters had been received from every part of Spain assuring the Holy See of complete support, while the discipline and strength of the clergy and their harmony with the episcopacy were above praise. The Pope concluded with the hope that this time the cause would triumph.

Grismom to See Colonel.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., August 14.—Ex-President Roosevelt announced to-day that Lloyd C. Grismom, chairman of the New York Republican County Committee, would come to Sagamore Hill to-morrow morning for a conference. Mr. Grismom spent last night with President Taft at Beverly, and although Colonel Roosevelt would not say so, it is known that Mr. Grismom will come to Sagamore Hill as the bearer of an important message from President Taft. The conference, therefore, will be of more than usual importance.

Mr. Grismom took luncheon with Colonel Roosevelt in New York on Friday before departing for Beverly, and they discussed, among other things, the county chairman's visit to the "treasure island."

As soon as Mr. Grismom returned to-day from the summer capital he telephoned to Colonel Roosevelt an urgent request for a conference with him as soon as possible. Colonel Roosevelt asked him to come to Sagamore Hill to-morrow morning.

The Colonel would add nothing to the bare announcement that Mr. Grismom was to come, except to say that he had read with great interest the dispatches from Beverly, intimating that the President holds the reins of the party in his hands. He said that Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon, in the future, are to be in less direct contact with the administration. He refused to give his views on this subject.

Since Colonel Roosevelt's return from Africa he has regularly avoided placing himself on record in regard to the Taft administration. He has seen the President only once, and then for a comparatively short time, during his visit to Boston for the Harvard commencement. So far as known, no messages have passed between them since that time, and it is said that President Taft desires to know where his predecessor stands, particularly in view of the national campaign which is soon to get under way.

Colonel Roosevelt's Western trip is to start Tuesday of next week.

AVERAGE OF WHEAT FIELDS NOT MORE THAN 100 ACRES

Washington, D. C., August 14.—Although the wheat fields of the Far West are generally supposed to be of extended acreage, the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Agriculture has estimated that the average in the States where they are largest their size averages a little more than 100 acres.

California alone is an exception to this rule, as in that State the average acreage is 160 acres. In Montana the average is 115 acres, in Washington, 110 acres, and Oregon, 105 acres. Although there are some enormous fields of wheat in these States, the many smaller ones reduce the average size to that of an ordinary farm.

New England has the smallest wheat fields, the average acreage of such fields in Vermont being only three acres.

The values of both wheat and corn lands are greatest in the West, where the average value is said to be $84 an acre for wheat and $100 for corn. The Central West shows prices ranging below those of Illinois. Land values in the Southern States are low, averaging $22 for wheat and $27 for corn land.

INSTITUTE VISITED BY MANY FARMERS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Blacksburg, Va., August 14.—Two hundred and fifty farmers from the counties along the line of the Virginia Railway, between Altaville and Norton, spent Saturday at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. The party arrived on a special train over the Virginian at 9 o'clock, and were met by the members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture, who conducted them over the college farm, the experimental plants, dairy, cattle barns, the entire grounds and buildings being inspected during the day. At 1 o'clock Director S. W. Fletcher, of the experiment station, delivered an illustrated lecture on the special train, and then the party on "Machinery of Soil Fertility." Before leaving here many of the farmers took occasion to express their appreciation of the courtesy shown them, as well as their satisfaction with the condition of things as they found them at P. V. I. with particular reference to the excellent carried on in the agricultural department.

100,000 ACRES WITHDRAWN

Leadville and Pike Forests Lose by Taft's Proclamation.

Washington, D. C., August 14.—Near 100,000 acres of land have been withdrawn from the Leadville and Pike National Forests, in Colorado, by proclamation just signed by the President. Most of the land already has been patented, but the unpatented portions later will be opened to settlement.

EXAMINE CAVE-IN AND MAKE REPORT

Experts Take Reassuring View of Staunton's Yawning Cavern.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Staunton, Va., August 14.—During the past twenty-four hours there has been no further falling of earth into the cave-in which recently opened up a great hole in one of Staunton's streets. While it is believed that no further damage will be done, every precaution to prevent it is being taken. The following official statement has been issued:

Inasmuch as sensational statements have appeared in many newspapers concerning damage suffered by Staunton through a cave-in, it is thought proper to set the matter at rest by an authoritative statement of the city officials and of the competent engineers and geologists who have been kind enough to give their opinion upon the matter.

The cave-in, which has occurred on Baldwin Street, at a point near Lewis Creek, just beyond the northwestern limits of the business section of Staunton, lies cross what some years ago was known as "Stuart's Frog Pond"—a small pond in Mr. Stuart's meadow—and is caused by the falling of surface earth into a well defined channel upon bed rock, following the general direction of Lewis Creek. The fall or cave-in has an extreme length of 255 feet, and a breadth of thirty feet at the surface, and the channel at the foot of the fall having a width of some six or eight feet. The ground in this immediate locality is what is commonly known as "made earth" being a marl formation, covered with clay, ashes, loam and debris of various kinds with which the old pond was filled in. While the extreme length of the fall is 255 feet, as stated, the subsidence is not continuous, the surface having remained intact at two intermediate points, leaving bridges across the channel about thirty feet in width. The depth from the street to the stream is from forty to forty-seven feet.

The immediate cause of the break is very evident, being merely the caving in of the soft material over and around the underground channel caused by excessive rainfalls. This channel, now exposed to view, probably the old channel of the stream which fed "Stuart's Frog Pond." Immediately beyond the present limit of the fall, limestone rock occurs at 15 feet below the surface, which is known as the "bed rock." The fall, immediately to the north of the fall, parallel to it, and at a distance of not exceeding fifty feet, is the primary school building, which is erected on piles which are supposed to have been driven to solid rock.

The destruction of property caused by this slide has not been very large, owing to the distance of the point where it occurred from the business center of the city. A portion of one of the city fire stations lies immediately above the slide, and this must be made secure before any use can be made of the station. At about the middle of the fall stood a frame tenement house, 25 by 40 feet, valued at about $500, which went into the street with the surrounding earth. A one-room kitchen, owned by C. L. Wilson, was above the slide and fell into it, leaving his house proper intact, and from under the adjoining property at the end of the slide, a part of the brick foundation wall has fallen. Thus the cost of the property damaged, aside from the injury to the land, is very small.

It is the intention of the city authorities, upon the advice of Messrs. F. B. Van Horn, of the United States Geological Survey; Charles Catlett, geologist; Dr. Sharsall Grasty, of the University of Virginia, and of their own engineer, when the entire channel is thus opened, to slope the sides until the channel is fully exposed, when it will be substantially roofed, and the depression filled.

Whilst it is not possible at present to say that the caving may not extend beyond the present break, the extent of the caving is not so great as to be so much as to inevitably confine it to a comparatively narrow belt of limited extent.

HAMPTON H. WATT, Mayor, City of Staunton.

General Manager, City of Staunton.

J. M. PERRY, City Attorney.

FIRST EXPERIENCE WITH A MINT JULEP

Dancing Master Drinks One, Is Overcome, While One of His Friends Is Arrested on Robbery Charge.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Winchester, Va., August 14.—Professor Allan D. C. Mueller, a dancing master of distinction, who was formerly an instructor in the tetrachordian art in the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, and who recently organized a large class among the young people of Harrisonburg, has practically recovered from the effects of a mint julep, the imbibing of which by Professor Mueller a few nights ago brought about a strange and unusual mix-up of affairs, resulting in the arrest of P. Eytling, a New York salesman, and the detention of Fred Schindler, who represents Baltimore in the city.

Professor Mueller was dining at a restaurant in the city, and was joined by the drummers, and between courses one of the famous Virginia mint concoctions was served in elegant style. It was the dancing master's first experience with the Virginia mint, and shortly after he drained the glass he became dizzy and sick. He was carried to one of the salesmen's rooms in the hotel, undressed and his clothing sent to a tailor to be pressed. The following day, when Eytling returned from his trip to the country, he was arrested, charged with stealing $131 from the dancing master, and was held for the grand jury. Later in the evening, however, a hotel porter found the professor's wallet under a suitcase in a bedroom, and he was released and fully exonerated, as was Fred Schindler. Professor Mueller is a native of Kentucky, and has also resided at Charlottesville, but he did not know what a mint julep felt like until he went to Harrisonburg, although he had often heard people speak about the mint beds of Virginia and Kentucky.

Some of the former liquor men of Winchester are blaming part of their defeat in the recent local option election on their own people, or those who have not yet decided to vote. They do a great deal of missionary work among the voters. In the petition to the court asking for the election, it was suggested that in event of a wet victory, limits should be prescribed for saloons, several men occupying properties outside of the proposed limits who hoped to engage in the traffic are said to have been angered to such an extent that they worked against the liquor interests and the Anti-Saloon League people, however, declare that the people are satisfied with existing conditions and that the majority desired no change.

Greek adherents of the simple life came very near making an end of their careers in Jefferson county a few days ago, when several former residents of that county partook of meat that had been outlawed by the local option law, and which had been sold to them by a butcher at bargain prices. The men are doing work for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and they are said to be endeavoring to confine their living expenses to the bare necessities in order to send money to relatives abroad.

The "bootlegging" industry among the negroes of Berkeley and Jefferson counties, Va., is said to have been very large, and is now being broken up by Deputy Marshall H. A. Brown, of Martinsburg, has given up practically all of his other duties to the exclusion of running down black men who sell liquor in the quarries and railroad camps without a license. Deputy Brown is usually on the go between Martinsburg and Wheeling, with alleged offenders, who have been turned over to the grand jury of the Federal court at Wheeling.

J. R. Clifford, a colored editor, lawyer and Republican politician, of Martinsburg, has been arrested by Baltimore and Ohio Railroad detectives, charged with beating his way on freight train and fishing at Cherry Run on Sunday. Clifford declared that it was an outrage to arrest him on such a charge, but he was fined in court. He noted an appeal.

Rev. J. T. Williams, pastor of the Southern Methodist Church at Berryville, who served under Colonel John S. Mosby during the Civil War, officiated at a colored wedding in Berryville a few days ago, the contracting parties being Benjamin Franklin Slaughter and Emma Elizabeth Tracy. Rev. Mr. Williams stated that it was the second time in his long career as a minister that he had been called upon to solemnize a wedding for colored people, but he saw no reason to object, as many colored couples seem to get along better than some of the white people.

Preparations are now being made at Shepherdstown, W. Va., for the eighth annual session of the Lutheran Synod of Virginia, which will convene there on August 22, and remain in session all week. Rev. George S. Bowers, D. D., pastor of Grace Church, of Winchester, is president, and will preach.

Frank Dodson and his bride, who was formerly Miss Noame Coffman, have returned to their home at Concolville, Shenandoah county, after spending their honeymoon in the vicinity of Harrisonburg. They were married on August 8, just three months after Perry Hotel, her jealous lover, shot her seven times and then committed suicide. For several weeks Miss Coffman lay in a critical condition, the physicians expecting her to die at any moment, but she surprised everyone by recovering. She was driving from church services at Liberty Furnace on May 8 with Frank Dodson, when Perry Hotel saw her, and he opened fire, pumping seven bullets into the girl's head. She was taken to the scene Hotel exacted a promise that Miss Hotel send a photograph of herself to be placed in his casket when he died, and this was done. Young Dodson and Miss Coffman went to Fisher's Hill to attend the Confederate reunion, and proceeded on to the Maryland Gettysburg, where they were married by Rev. R. L. Wright, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church. They are now at home in Shenandoah.

The Shenandoah Valley Medical Society was organized in Winchester a few days ago by the physicians and surgeons of the Seventh Congressional District. Practically every county was represented. Dr. D. D. Carter, of Woodstock, was elected president; Dr. Walter Cox, of Winchester, secretary and treasurer, and vice-presidents were elected from each county of the district. The association expects to begin a campaign of education, and will distribute health literature among the people of the district.

Miss Caroline Baker, member of one of the oldest families of Frederick county, was found in a distressed condition the other night at her home on Whitacre by her brother, C. E. Baker, upon his return from an errand. She had been paralyzed during his absence, and passed away soon after the arrival of another brother, Dr. I. N.

Baker. She was seventy years old, and her remains were buried on the farm Saturday.

Dr. B. R. White, of Strasburg, who has been under treatment for typhoid fever in the Winchester Memorial Hospital, has practically recovered, and has gone to New Market to recuperate at the home of relatives.

Leslie Kidwell, of Opequon, was brought into court here on Saturday afternoon, having been caught in the act of shooting a large thoroughbred Wyandotte rooster belonging to Hiram A. Cooper, of the same village, and when arraigned he declared that it was all a mistake—that he mistook the rooster for a bird. He was fined $7.50. Cooper was somewhat disgruntled when the court declared the rooster was worth no more than 50 cents. He came into court armed with an alleged pedigree, and declared the rooster was a valuable bird.

The prohibitionists of Berkeley county, W. Va., have nominated Rev. W. F. Gruver, formerly of Warren county, Va., for the State Senate in opposition to Senator John S. Silver, Democratic nominee. Rev. Mr. Gruver is pastor of the United Brethren Church at Martinsburg. The district is a Democratic stronghold.

Lee J. Miller, of Winchester, took his little daughter, Margaret Louise Miller, to the home of her grandfather, George W. Dellinger, at Waterlick, Warren county, for a visit, a few days ago, and shortly after returned home, he received a message announcing her death. The child had been taken ill very suddenly. Her remains were brought here to-day for burial in the Sacred Heart Church Cemetery.

Instant Relief for Sore Feet

Sore Feet, Tender Feet and Swollen Feet Cured Every Time. TIZ Makes Sore Feet Well, No Matter What Ails Them.

Police men all over the world use TIZ. Police men stand on their feet all day, and know what tender, sweaty, swollen feet really mean. They use TIZ because TIZ cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition. Read what the policeman has to say: "I was surprised and delighted with TIZ for tender feet. I hardly know how to thank you enough for it. It's superior to powders or plasters. I can keep my feet in perfect condition. I am in my earnest gratitude for TIZ. I am a policeman and keep on my feet all day."

You never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

TIZ is not a powder. Powder and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out the poisonous exudations which bring on sores of the feet, and in this way cures them. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet every foot.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll never have those horrible blisters and calluses. You'll feel like a new person. TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25c per box. If you use you direct, if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.
